HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS IN THE BIG CITY

A doo-zine by whats up seattle

My Names Dizzi
Ever Since I moved here I knew I was exactly where I wanted to be Even if Im a bit shy

It can be really hard to be understood

There's always new social rules and it can get real scary

When you dont know what to say

What mask you wear can be important

And even if you know what to say

How you say it might be more important

It can leave you isolated

Even at social functions

Leading to long nights laying awake

Wondering when it all went so wrong and you wound up so lonely

Its okay to yearn

For the type of friendships you wish you had

The Big city can be scary

To late bloomers and new comers alike

Thats why if you stick with me you can put yer weed in here, MAN put weed here

I'll take you from a Single Susan

To friendship uh franklin

Trying to figure out whats on peoples minds isnt easy for everyone

I struggle a lot in social situations People have always sort of scared me while also fascinating me and my Anxiety often holds me in a vice grip

So I was determined to interview a few people for the zine

The only problem is

How do I do that Without scaring people?

Or just jumping out at them

Is THIS PRICE for REAL?

How can I make people trust me

When I have Nothing to show for it?

I think Im a pretty friendly person

And Im so well groomed maybe it wont be so bad it's eBaum's WORLd you're just Living in it

We all live in the same kind of world after all with my winning personality who wouldnt want to be my friend?

People are often at peace while in nature

A Good park should Be a place where everyone feels Safe to express themselves and frolick freely

When I went to Cal Anderson
I saw hundreds of queer folks Just frolicking all over with each other

As I stared

Into the fountain I knew someone here would know how to make Friends

Key lime pie

Pronouns they slash them

I saw a DJ in the park playing in this really cool dress

If theirs one thing Djs are known for its being very social

If anyone was going to know how to make friends it was going to be them

PROSHADE
PROFESSIONAL QUALITY

Some people have natural charisma

I came across a really cool creature who looked fearless When I walked by he had another photographer who left to get a different lense

Surely someone so photogenic must have many friends

I've been called a socialite before, so I decided to put my extroverted energy forward! so my answer is to be outgoing, ask questions and generally listen to others.

Retty

Pronouns
He slash Him

If im anything im certainly not extroverted My energy for people comes in big bursts followed by a neet exile

I frequently get scared if my neighbors door slams The world is a hidden temple and im always feeling the tresspasser But I love meeting new people even if its only once Maybe we could all be a bit more outgoing

After all the best gift is a smile

Some people dont have time for friends

They only have time for love

Sometimes you put your all into love

And it goes poorly

So you should always remember to uh people are often more comfortable talking about media than themselves

You don't even need to TALK about it, you can show it all over !

ANYTHING THAT BREAKS THE TENSION HELPS!
Everyone else is scared too,
I promise!

Even in relaxing situations you might still be Troubled by worries in your daily life

Feeling stuck in a rut might fill up the view of an otherwise scenic day the city leaves it's mark on you pretty easy it's important to know the world's not unkind.

people are simply fools.

always be wary the fool, but be kind, its crown is a traveling one

But It's important to acknowledge Some folks will treat you like Dogshit.
Some people are agressive Even if they are justified Especially in a town where it's so hard To find a restroom
And when you are trying to make a withdrawl from the bank of hope It's better if you dont have something distracting you

When I made it home after the park, I pretty badly hurt my leg.

Angels pray & cry

I hobbeled to a local store

Demons smile & laugh

in search of the one thing I knew would heal me....snacks and on the way I met the most swagged out individuals id ever seen

The parallels to the park struck me as too easy to be just a coincidence

And then it all hit me of course.
I've known all along...

It's always just been about community.

SO HERES WHAT i GOT

If you want to make friends.

first things first is you need to find community.

We are stronger together.

State your needs and desires Clearly

Try not to lose your head!

or Bite anyone elses off!

But most of all...

Be Kind!

Pronouns SHE SLASH FAE

When I started this one I was kinda a bit lost I figured a bit of small reality would jolt me back to my peppy happy self.

It did. But I also walk with a cane now

Eternal thank you to everyone I interviewed I hope I made you look cool...

Special thanks to our friends
